INTRODUCTION

Geneva Public Library District crafted and adopted a strategic plan to serve as a roadmap for guiding service priorities and allocating resources for the next three fiscal years, spanning the period of July 2015 to June 2018. While previous plans were written to cover longer periods of time the current plan was written to provide guidance over a shorter time span due to the rapid pace of technological development and change in society.

The plan is not an exhaustive list of services provided by the Library but rather a working document intended to guide priorities and assist the Board of Trustees and staff of the Library in achieving our vision of being a valued and innovative community resource for empowering residents to seek knowledge, create ideas and achieve dreams.

This report provides highlights from the full version of the strategic plan as well as responses from an online and in-library community survey conducted as part of the planning process.

BACKGROUND

The Library last completed a strategic plan in August 2004. Upon hiring a new director in June 2014 the Library embarked upon a process of self-evaluation, including: an analysis of strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats; collection of demographic information; facilitation of community conversations; and use of an online and in-library community survey. The Library hired Face to Face Communications, library consultants who specialize in visioning, to work with the Board of Trustees and staff to articulate the Library’s mission, vision, values and strategic initiatives for providing library services of value and relevance to community members. The planning process kicked off at the Library’s annual staff in-service in January 2015 and was completed in July 2015.

PLANNING PROCESS

The Library Director, working with Face to Face Communications, developed a timeline and process for drafting a strategic plan. Central to the planning process was the understanding that the Library serves the unique and specific needs of our community. To more fully understand these needs the Strategic Planning Committee examined the current status of the Library and the community. The Committee relied on three primary sources of information:

1. Community demographic analysis consisting of census information and market segmentation data;
2. Community input gathered from community conversations and an online and in-library community survey; and
3. Trends in public library service and current usage patterns observed in the Library.

The Committee was tasked with first defining the Library’s mission (why we exist), vision (what we aspire to be), and values (what we believe in). Using this as a foundation for developing a plan to position the Library to nimblly respond to community needs and the current environment the Committee identified four strategic priorities: flexible space, innovation, convenience, and connections. Finally, goals and objectives with clear actions and measurements were developed for each initiative.

FINAL REMARKS

Geneva Public Library District is governed by an elected Board of Trustees consisting of seven members. Trustees serve four year terms without compensation. Trustees bear fiduciary responsibility to the taxpayers of the Geneva Public Library District. The Library Director, hired by the Board of Trustees, manages day-to-day operations of the Library.

The Library has a long and exciting history of forward-thinking leaders and a commitment to community service. As long ago as the 1870s there were efforts to establish a public library in Geneva. A referendum passed in April 1894 and Geneva was assured a public library. The building was begun in 1896; however, due to lack of funding the structure stood with half-finished walls for several years. In 1906, the women of the Geneva Improvement Association took over the structure "as a free gift" on the condition they finish the building and put a library in it. A $7,500 gift from Andrew Carnegie was received in January 1907 with the condition that the city support the library at a rate of at least $750 a year and the title be vested in the city's name.

The current building, with approximately 27,600 square feet, has reached capacity. The landlocked location, lack of ADA accessibility, and inability to provide parking or drive-up access at the current facility prompted the Board of Trustees to engage the services of an architectural firm specializing in library planning to conduct an objective, demographic-based Library Needs Assessment. If the current building is not conducive to meeting the needs of the community and a new facility is required, the Board is committed to securing land close to downtown for the purpose of building a new library. Contract negotiations to purchase the site of the former Sixth Street School from Kane County are currently underway.

The Board of Trustees and staff of Geneva Public Library District strive to meet the needs of our community today and well into the future. The Library is here to serve you. We welcome your suggestions.

Question:

How does the Library benefit you or the community?

"Libraries are more important than the post office. A good library is so important to the community. A place to study and organize yourself. A place to meet and socialize with people. I am meeting my husband here today!"

"In countless ways. It provides a wealth of information, a place of community for all ages, and a meeting place for all groups. I love libraries and I hope the Geneva library will remain an important part of our town for years to come!"

"Good value for my taxes."
